After Brazil, Spain has come out to be the second country in the world where divorce is better accepted socially.

Around 79 percent of Spanish people think that, when a couple is not able to solve their marital problems, divorce is the best solution.

The data was derived from the study "Social perception of divorce in Spain", published in the Revista Española de Investigaciones Sociológicas (Reis) by Professor Diego Becerril Ruiz, of the Department of Sociology of the University of Granada.

It also reflects that the acceptance of divorce has increased in our country during the 90's.

The data collected from a complete bibliographical review, reveals that the young, contrary to what could be expected, are not the sector of the population who is more in favour of divorce as a solution.

"They are the sector which disagrees the most," Becerril said.

"Maybe because these generations have been brought up within situations of divorce and have experienced, to a greater or lesser extent, the breakup process," he stated.

Marital status also defines clear situations as regards the acceptance of divorce.

The divorced and separated agree to a greater extent, whereas the widows and widowers are the sector most in disagreement.
