

Sify Home >> News >> International >> Using drones against Al-Qaeda won't stop new attacks in Europe, US: Jihad expert

Comments | Share | Print | Rate

Using drones against Al-Qaeda won't stop new attacks in Europe, US: Jihad expert

2011-04-07 16:50:00

Come live in Canada

Ads by Google

Immigration program for Businessmen and Professionals.
www.MichelBeaubien.com

An expert in jihadism at the University of Granada has said drones won't be efficient or enough to prevent Al Qaeda attacks in Europe and USA.

Professor Javier Jord n Enamorado said that unmanned aerial vehicles are inefficient to prevent new terrorist attacks against Europe and the USA, but admitted that they could be employed in the short and medium term to undermine Al-Qaeda and the Taliban leadership and its operating capacity in Pakistan.

This is the conclusion exposed in an article recently published in the Newsletters of the Real Instituto Elcano.

Jord n said the employment of armed drones to undermine Al-Qaeda's capacity was an option that was already being considered before the 9/11 attacks.

They started to be operated at the start of the intervention in Afghanistan, although it was Obama's administration that finally launched drone attacks in Pakistan, which have gained a very significant intensity.

Professor Jord n stressed on "the lack of reprisals from Al-Qaeda in response to CIA's strategy of eliminating their leaders".

Jord n noted that, in 2009, the number of attacks by armed unmanned aircraft vehicles was higher than that launched in 2004 and 2008 -53 against 43-. In September 2010, the number of attacks already exceeded the total number of attacks launched in 2010 (69).

Currently, most of the drones flying in Afghanistan belong to the US Air Force and perform military tasks -route and facility protection, infantry support, etc.

These CIA-operated vehicles employed in Pakistan are of a different type. Their main aim is eliminating Al-Qaeda's key leaders and the Taliban insurgency, and their activities are secret.

CIA's attacks have caused intense controversy within Pakistani society, which explains Islamabad's administration ambiguity.

On the one hand, Pakistani's government has openly condemned what they consider a violation of their sovereignty, while at the same time, they are allowing drones to use their air space and the airfield of Shamsi, which belongs to the Pakistani Air Force, Javier Jord n states in his article.

Simultaneously, the legality of these actions is also being questioned in the United States and other countries, he concludes in his article. (ANI)

All About: London

Comments | Share | Print | Rate

More Headlines

Most Popular

US preacher says world will end around 6pm on May 21, 2011

Vijaykanth assaults party candidate
Wide-spread support to Anna Hazare in Andhra Pradesh
Battle royale: Alagiri's money power vs Quraishi's will power

Latest News

Groundswell of support for Anna Hazare

20hrs 53mins ago IANS

Hyderabad: Students to academics, the young and old, film stars to intellectuals -- everyone has joined hands in support of Gandhian Anna Hazare, who is fasting in New Delhi for a stronger Lokpal

After 27 years, Gopal Dass comes home to...

21hrs 3mins ago IANS

Gurdaspur (Punjab): He may have returned home after 27 years in jail in Pakistan, but Gopal Dass has found instant connect with Anna Hazare's crusade against corruption and says he extends his full

Hazare writes to PM, Sonia Gandhi

21hrs 8mins ago ANI

New Delhi: With the Centre turning down social activist Anna Hazare's two demands on the joint committee, the Gandhian, whose indefinite fast has entered a fourth day today, has written a letter to

PM holds meet, Pranab appeals to Hazare

21hrs 25mins ago IANS

New Delhi: Prime Minister Manmohan Singh Friday met UPA chairperson Sonia Gandhi over the stalemate with anti-corruption crusader Anna Hazare, soon after Finance Minister Pranab Mukherjee appealed to Kashmiri religious leader killed in Srin...

21hrs 40mins ago IANS

Srinagar: Prominent religious leader Molvi Showkat Ahmad Shah of the Jamait-e-Ahlehadis, was killed in an improvised explosive device (IED) blast outside a mosque in Jammu and Kashmir summer capital

More Stories

Sponsor Ads

IndiaProperty.com
No.1 Property Portal

You never have to see this again!

Endless Listings &
Endless Possibilities

On the NO.1
PROPERTY Portal

SEARCH NOW